Live Video Streaming Rights Policy

In accordance with the NCAA's digital rights agreement with Turner Sports Interactive, Inc. ("Turner"), Turner owns the exclusive rights to stream all NCAA Championships live via the Internet, mobile applications, and related devices, except for those Championships which fall under a prior national television and/or digital rights agreement (i.e. ESPN, CBS).

If Turner elects to exercise its right to distribute an NCAA Championship event via live video streaming, NO SECONDARY STREAMING RIGHTS WILL BE GRANTED to university athletic departments, university television networks, student-operated television networks, local/regional television networks or other media outlets (collectively, "Third-Parties").

If Turner elects NOT to exercise its video streaming rights, certain Third Parties MAY REQUEST PERMISSION TO VIDEO STREAM select NCAA Championship events (the "Event Coverage") from Turner. All requests must be submitted to Turner online at www.ncaa.com/rights-request.

6. Free-to-User: The Streaming Entity agrees to deliver the live video stream of the Event Coverage FREE to all users. The Streaming Entity further agrees that no video streaming rights shall be granted or will be permitted as part of a subscription package. If the Streaming Entity normally uses a subscription package to broadcast video streams, the link to the stream of the Event Coverage must be separate from the subscription package and may not require any login or other user information.

The only permissible website that will aggregate links is the official NCAA site, NCAA.com. Furthermore, the Streaming Entity is responsible for insuring that no aggregation takes place. In the event that aggregation is taking place on an unauthorized third-party website, the Streaming Entity must take prompt action to have the links immediately removed in order to prevent forfeiture of their previously granted rights to broadcast.
