

THE NCAA'S ADVERTISING AND PROMOTIONAL GUIDELINES EFFECTIVE SEPTEMBER 2018

Introduction

The NCAA's advertising and promotional standards are designed to encourage those advertisements and advertisers that support the NCAA's ideals and exclude those advertisements and advertisers (and others who wish to associate with NCAA activities) that do not appear to be in the best interests of higher education and student-athletes.

Advertisements, advertisers and others associated with NCAA events (e.g., entities participating in NCAA championship fan fests) should be generally supportive of the NCAA's values and attributes, and/or not be in conflict with the NCAA's mission and fundamental principles.

In formulating these advertising and promotional standards, the NCAA reviewed the broadcast practices and standards documents of its primary television partners (i.e., the CBS Television Network Advertising Guidelines and the ESPN Domestic Commercial Guidelines). In some cases, the NCAA adopted specific standards from these guidelines. Overall, the NCAA recognizes that these network guidelines help to maintain and assure a standard of appropriate advertising on NCAA championship telecasts.

The NCAA will work with each of its business partners (including CBS, Turner, ESPN and Golf Channel) in reviewing in advance advertisements (e.g., those that might be viewed as demeaning or in poor taste) or other questionable associations with the NCAA prior to the NCAA rendering a decision as to how these standards should apply in any given situation. The NCAA reserves the right to exercise flexibility as circumstances warrant.

Principles

The NCAA strives to be associated with entities and messages that:

- Promote the NCAA's attributes: Learning, Balance, Character, Spirit/Passion, Community, and Fair Play.
- Champion the STUDENT-athlete, reflecting the integration and balance that student-athletes achieve every day between academics and athletics.
- Support diversity, gender equity, nondiscrimination, physical fitness, student-athlete health and safety, youth development, sportsmanship, ethical conduct, academic standards, student-athlete welfare and amateurism.
- Enhance the overall value of higher education.
- Project and enhance a consistent brand image and consistent public relations messages for the NCAA.
- Do not violate the fundamental principles and specific guidelines contained in this document.

Understanding the realities and challenges that commercial entities face in attempting to reach these objectives, the NCAA believes, at a minimum, that advertisements, advertisers and others who wish to be associated with NCAA events should not:

- Cause harm to student-athlete health, safety and welfare.
- Bring discredit to the purposes, values or principles of the NCAA.
- Negatively impact the best interests of intercollegiate athletics or higher education.

The NCAA reserves the right to disapprove any advertiser, advertisement or other association with the NCAA or its activities that in the NCAA's sole judgment violates the principles outlined above, which may be modified from time to time as part of the NCAA membership's continual review of Association policies and procedures.

Specific Examples

The items below are intended to provide specific examples of topics and entities that are, and are not, permitted to be associated with the NCAA or its events (marked below as Permissible or Impermissible, respectively). These examples are not meant to be exhaustive but instead were chosen to illustrate the application of the NCAA's principles outlined above. Over the years, NCAA business partners have questioned these topics and entities, and as a result, these examples are intended to address the most likely questions. For specific items or areas not listed below, the principles outlined above will govern. In any situation in which there is any doubt about appropriateness or adherence to the standards contained herein, the NCAA, after gathering input from the involved parties, shall review the situation on a case-by-case basis to determine, in its sole discretion, approval or disapproval. All questions about items or areas not listed should be directed to the NCAA's managing director of marketing and broadcast alliances.

[NOTE: Certain words are boldfaced below only to aid in locating specific items.]

- Attacks or other disparagements of the NCAA or its members. I
- Unless proper authorization exists, NCAA marks and logos (e.g., March Madness, The Big Dance, Final Four, the names of NCAA championships) and NCAA championship brackets, including ambush marketing that impairs NCAA rights and goodwill through an improper association. I

[NOTE: NCAA marks available for use by authorized entities, with prior approval, can be found at <http://www.ncaa.org/championships/marketing/ncaa-trademarks?division=d1>]

- For championship game programs ads, any products or services that are competitive with those product/service categories of NCAA corporate champions (i.e., currently, AT&T, Capital One, and Coca-Cola). I

Process

The NCAA president shall have the authority to rule in cases where doubt exists concerning acceptable advertisers and/or advertisements associated with NCAA championships and other NCAA related activities.

The NCAA staff will carry out the president's authority over these standards on a day-to-day basis. The vice president of communications, as well as in-house counsel, shall be consulted, as necessary, before communicating final decisions.

The NCAA will use commercially reasonable efforts not to apply any substantive changes to its advertising and promotional standards without proper notice to its business partners (e.g., have changes be effective at the beginning of the next academic year).
